A Strange Case.

The physicians who have been attending Officer Nash say the bullet that it was feared would cause his death, has cured a rupture of many years' standing. The bullet irritated and inflamed the break and caused it to heal. It is one of the most remarkable cases on record, and doctors will report it for medical magazines.—Reno Journal.

Yet the man who cured Nash was lynched by the citizens of Reno. The Riverside town appears to be a poor place to practice medicine or surgery.

HE TOOK THE TOWELS.

The Boys Have Some Fun with Ed. Reynolds.

Although Mr. Ed. Reynolds has long been regarded as one of the most honest men in the community, it was generally reported about town yesterday that he had been caught taking towels from Shaw's Hot Springs.

It appears that he went out on Sunday to take a bath and also took a bathing suit in a valise.

After coming from the bath he took his valise in the saloon a few moments to get some beer, when some wags got to the bag and stuffed six or eight towels into it. Then they came in town and posted some of the boys who took Mrs. Reynolds into the conspiracy, and got out a search warrant, charging that certain stolen property was in the house.

Yesterday morning Jack Fur long went up with the warrant and demanded to be allowed to search the premises.

"Hate to do it, Ed., but I'm only performing my duty."

Mrs. Reynolds, who was in the job, vowed that no man should search her premises, but her husband cooled her down, saying that nothing was there that ought not to be there and the law must be respected.

Finally Fur long got hold of the valise and found the towels.

"This is what we're after," he said, as he proceeded to yank out the towels one by one. "Never supposed Ed you'd come to this," said Jack, and then Mrs. Reynolds fainted away quite realistically in a rocking chair. The expression in the face of Mr. Reynolds would be reproduced here had not our regular District Fair artist gone back to San Francisco. When Reynolds is out on the streets now he gets about a bushel of chaff on each block and is around hunting for the men who put those towels in his valise.

It seems to be a general idea about town that while he was about it he might have taken a few cakes of soap also and made a clean sweep.

Mills on the Wright Act.

In an interview by the San Francisco Bulletin of Wm. M. Mills concerning the Salt Lake Convention, that gentleman said: "It was brought out very clearly that private capital in irrigation systems is not so desirable by any means as public capital. In private systems the water becomes a perpetual mortgage on the land. One Utah system requires every land purchaser to pay $8 an acre for water and $3 an acre rent every year thereafter. Settlers will hesitate at such investments. It is considerably different from pre-empting or paying $1.25 an acre or $200 for 160 acres, and relying on the rains for irrigation. The water must go with the land forever in order to sell it readily. The land owners must be water owners. It was this that made all the convention pleased with our Wright law. It was admitted that our system is in advance of all others."

EDITOR APPEAL—I wish to reply to the article in the News relative to the fire; I have been a volunteer fireman in this city over twenty-five years and am entitled to a hearing.

Now I never knew Mr. Heritage to do anything more at a fire than curse and boss, and call the firemen hard names. When I hit him in the breast with a stream of water it was an accident and the water was beyond my control.

J. F. A. LYNCH, Corner of Fall and Washington Streets, Carson City, Nevada.

Cause of the Fire.

Bryant, the restaurant man, says the fire did not start in his restaurant as reported but originated in the Old Theater and was first discovered in his place where it had burned through. Neil Connelly was there at the time and saw the fire bursting through the ceiling and says it came from the Old Theater.

The proposed race between You Bet and Hyram E. is off.

The Fair.

The success of the Fair has eclipsed all previous efforts of the Board.

The question now arises, would it not be good policy in future to confine the exhibits and competition at the District Fair to horses, cattle, produce, etc., raised in the State of Nevada.

The APPEAL does not claim that its position is unanswerable on this subject, but it is at least worth arguing.

The large purses attract fast horses from California, and they generally take back the money to California.

Now it is claimed that if anybody here can raise a faster horse than California horses he can down them all.

Quite true, but the average Nevada man fears that he cannot succeed against the vaunted California horses and therefore does not try.

Let it be known that there would be $10,000 in premiums and purses for Nevada horses and many horsemen in the State who do not feel able to compete with California flyers would start in at once, as long as they felt they only had Nevada horses to beat. In a few years the competition would be very thorough and as a result Nevada horse breeding would receive an impetus which is not thought of now.

The APPEAL believes that the Fair managers cannot start in too quick to confine the big purses to Nevada raised horses or at least owned in this State. The result would be that some of those fast California horses would be bought by residents of this State for racing purposes. The taxes would be paid here and the purses be kept at home. It would also be a good thing to let the pool privileges to some resident of the State.

The Way to Do It.

In an interesting letter by Wells Drury in the Sacramento News regarding his visit to Nevada, he discusses on irrigation as follows:

Right now the entire State of Nevada is being doused with newspaper articles on irrigation, just the same as I used to dose them seven years ago, and not a word has been said or written by Frank Nowlands, Senator Stewart or Bob Fulton. The water is there. The land is there. Everybody knows that. The next thing is to collect the money for bringing the water to the land. I came down on the same train with D. L. Ellis, and in talking about irrigation he figured out that the waters of Lake Tahoe yearly running to waste down the Truckee River, would more than suffice to irrigate the land in the adjacent valleys, and then the annual cost would be less than a dollar an acre. The Humboldt river, the Carson river, the Owyhee river and the Colorado river can all furnish more or less water to Nevada. I believe the time will come when they will all be utilized to their entire capacity. When that is done the sagebrush State will have such an era of prosperity that the old timers will be surprised that something of the kind has never attempted before.

Slick Work.

Mr. George Dougherty, whose horse Victor had to drag a heavy cart about the track in the big race, received considerable sympathy for his handicap.

After the race several inquisitive people, the writer among the number, examined the sulkies and the cart. The cart looked quite bulky compared with the others, but it was really about ten pounds lighter than any sulky driven in the race.

Free Fight.

It is reported that there was a free fight at Wadsworth Friday night between railroad boys and circus men. The whole gang of thieves, cut-throat gamblers and roustabouts connected with the circus pitched into four or five railroad boys and one of the latter was severely injured in the scrimmage that ensued.

The County Commissioners met yesterday.

There is no Secret

About your buying shoes to advantage. You may not know any more about the quality of leather than you do about a lost comet but that is no reason why you should get "stuck." Either you get your money's worth or you don't and if you don't it is your own fault. We are in the shoe business because we happen to know something about shoes and leather. It is "bread and butter" to us, therefore we make it a STUDY. Of the knowledge you get as much benefit as though you possessed it yourself for we place it entirely at your disposal and if you think that other houses can quote lower prices than we do, come and look at the goods and and prices. We will put our time against yours and we feel confident that the result will be a mutual benefit.
